

Summer 2013 Calendar

Program in New Mexico

June 15–July 24

Program in North Carolina

June 15–July 27

Program at Lincoln College, Oxford

June 24–August 3

Program at Bread Loaf, Vermont

June 25–August 10

Go to www.middlebury.edu/blse to see:

- Summer 2013 Fees
- Financial Aid Information
- How to Apply
- Course Descriptions
- Academic and Co-curricular Programs

Photography by Edward Brown, Lise Johnson,
Jon Olson, Brett Quimby, Brett Simison,
Peggy Turner

This publication was printed on recycled paper and is recyclable.

Nonprofit Organization
U.S. Postage
PAID
Middlebury College

Middlebury
The Bread Loaf School of English
Middlebury College
Middlebury, VT 05753

Middlebury

Summer 2013

The Bread Loaf
School of English

why Bread Loaf?

transformative • incomparable • unique • world class • flexible • collaborative

Bread Loaf offers an incomparable
array of courses.

Our students choose courses in British, American, and world literatures; theater arts; creative writing; and pedagogy and literacy. From The Modernist Novel to Writing for Children to Literacy as a Civil Right, the curriculum invites students to read deeply and widely in subjects tailored to the needs of K–12 teachers especially.

Bread Loaf offers a flexible program of study.

Bread Loaf's intensive six-week summer sessions allow students to enjoy an immersive graduate experience while continuing their careers. Come for just one summer of continuing education, or earn an MA or MLitt in four or five summers.

Bread Loaf students are taught by world-class
faculty.

Bread Loaf faculty come from eminent colleges and universities across the U.S. and U.K. Most return summer after summer, invigorated and inspired by teaching and learning from Bread Loaf students who represent a unique cross-section of K–12 schools.

Bread Loaf students choose among four unique campuses.

Each Bread Loaf campus has a distinct character and offers courses that build on the local culture. Study Shakespeare on page and stage in England, literature of the Southwest in Santa Fe, slave narratives in Asheville, or the poetry of Robert Frost in Vermont.

The Bread Loaf experience is rich, deep, and transformative.

Our students and faculty study together, take meals together, and relax together. Teachers from public and private schools at all grade levels share stories and take courses that change their teaching forever. Many form the deepest friendships of their lives at Bread Loaf.

The Bread Loaf Teacher Network sustains collaborative relationships.

Conversations that begin during the summers at Bread Loaf continue throughout the year. Many students work together to advance best teaching practices in the Bread Loaf Teacher Network, one of the finest year-round professional development networks in the country.

The Bread Loaf

Summer 2013

School of English

transformative • incomparable • unique • world class • flexible • collaborative

FOR SIX INTENSIVE WEEKS EVERY SUMMER, an extraordinary community of teachers and learners comes together at the four campuses of the Bread Loaf School of English. Faculty members from such distinguished institutions as Princeton, Stanford, Yale, and Oxford teach courses in literature, pedagogy and literacy, creative writing, and theater arts. Come for one summer of continuing education, or work towards a master's degree over four to five summers.

Ripton, Vermont

Santa Fe, New Mexico

Picture Yourself Here...

Asheville, North Carolina

Oxford, England

Bread Loaf School of English • Middlebury College • Middlebury VT 05753
802.443.5418 • BLSE@breadnet.middlebury.edu

www.middlebury.edu/blse

